THE METABOLIC & MOMENTUM BLUEPRINT

Stabilize Your Daily Energy. Preserve Lean Muscle. And Position Yourself On the Ground Floor of a Launch That's Built to Last — Not Another 90-Day Wonder.

A FREE GUIDE FOR PEOPLE WHO WANT MORE ENERGY — AND MORE OPTIONS

Why You're Reading This

INTRODUCTION

If you are reading this, two things are probably true.

First, you are tired of the ups and downs in your own body.

You know the cycle. You start a new health routine, hoping to get back the steady energy you had years ago. You want to support a healthy weight and hold onto your lean muscle. Instead you get mid-afternoon crashes, stubborn plateaus, and chalky supplements that upset your stomach more than they fuel your day.

Second, you are tired of watching other people make money in this industry while you stand on the sidelines.

Every few months a shiny new "opportunity" shows up. It promises the world. It demands sixty hours a week of aggressive prospecting. Then it fizzles out before you ever see a steady dollar. You have probably been burned by a 90-day wonder before. Maybe more than once.

Here is the part most people miss: both problems come from the exact same root cause. A lack of a stable, proven system.

Without physical stability — steady cellular energy and a supported metabolism — your body fights you all day. Every task feels like wading through wet cement.

Without business stability — a proven, repeatable system backed by real products, real manufacturing, and a real community — your income is built on sand. It cannot survive the first storm.

This guide bridges that gap. We will show you how to stabilize your physical engine using real, studied cellular science. And we will show you how to plug into a structured income system that is launching right now — one designed for everyday people, internet marketers, affiliate marketers, and influencers who want leverage instead of hype.

And there is a clock on this. A new product is launching, the doors are open to lock in your spot for free, and the people who position early always win the most. By the end of this short read, a designated representative will reach out to you personally to walk you through both the product and the opportunity. No pressure. Just a real conversation.

The Biology of Steady Energy

CHAPTER ONE

Let's handle the physical engine first. If you do not have steady energy, nothing else matters. You cannot build anything — a body, a family life, or a business — while you are chasing your next caffeine fix.

Most people try to fix a sluggish metabolism with stimulants. More coffee. Sugary energy drinks. Thermogenic fat burners that make the heart race. This is the biological version of whipping a tired horse. You get a short burst of speed, then a hard crash that leaves your energy reserves lower than when you started.

To support a healthy weight and protect lean muscle, you have to look deeper than the surface. You have to look at the cell.

Your metabolism is not just a furnace that burns calories. It is a complex chemical communication network. When your cells are starved of the specific nutrients and peptides they need to repair and "talk" to each other, your metabolism slows down to protect itself. You start losing lean muscle — your body's primary metabolic engine — and you start storing energy as stubborn weight.

This is where the science of ORYGN comes in.

Instead of relying on synthetic stimulants, ORYGN looks to one of the purest natural sources on earth. The core of the metabolic support system is a patented Norwegian salmon peptide. This is not just another fish protein. It is a highly bioavailable, enzymatically hydrolyzed peptide that has been studied for its impact on metabolic and cellular health.

The flagship product, IGNYT, is built around this patented bioactive peptide — formulated to support your body's own cAMP and GLP-1 pathways, the same pathways your body uses to manage energy, appetite, and fat metabolism. Burn fat. Preserve muscle. Ignite results.

Because the company owns its manufacturing facilities, it does not have to depend on third-party, white-label suppliers. It controls the whole process — from the cold, clean waters of Norway to the final formula. That means the active peptides stay intact, bioavailable, and ready for your cells to absorb.

When you fuel your body this way, you are not forcing a temporary spike. You are supporting your body's natural ability to hold steady, clean energy across the entire day, protect your hard-earned muscle, and give your metabolism the foundation it needs to thrive.

📌 Quick question before you turn the page: if your energy held steady from morning to night — no 2 p.m. crash — what would you actually do with those extra hours? Hold that thought. It matters more than you think, and we come back to it.

Not Another 90-Day Wonder

CHAPTER TWO

Now let's talk about your time and your options.

If you have ever tried a side business, you know the 90-day trap. High-pressure tactics. Constant recruiting of friends and family. An unsustainable level of hype. Post five times a day. Pretend you live a lifestyle you have not earned yet. Hustle until you burn out.

That is not a business. It is a high-stress, low-yield job that you pay to keep.

Real builders do not run on hype. They run on systems. And a side project is only worth your time if it meets three simple tests.

Consumable, high-demand products

The product has to solve a real, daily problem. If people don't reorder it because they love how it makes them feel, you will spend all your energy chasing new customers just to stay even.

Vertical integration and stability

If the company does not own its manufacturing, it is at the mercy of supply chain breakdowns, quality drops, and surprise price hikes. You cannot build a stable future on a shaky supplier.

A repeatable, step-by-step system

You should not have to reinvent the wheel or become a charismatic sales guru. You need a clear, quiet path to share the product, educate people, and onboard partners.

This is the core philosophy of the IGNYT system, powered by the BMORE community.

No hype. No wild claims. Instead, you get a stable, structured side project built around a patented, high-demand product that people use every single day. And because ORYGN owns the manufacturing, you can build with real confidence, knowing the quality of what you share is unmatched and guaranteed.

Look at what is already true on day one, not someday:

340+ new members in just 5 days momentum you can feel, not promises you have to imagine.

130,000+ real testimonials

a community sharing real results every day.

Owned manufacturing facilities they control the quality, and they control the future.

Registered in 80 countries global reach means global opportunity.

Patented and exclusive a product with protected rights and no direct competition.

A proven system, backed by a guarantee so you can build with confidence instead of crossed fingers.

People who worked together years ago are coming back together for this one because they recognize what it is. That almost never happens. When experienced people return after being away, pay attention. They are not chasing hype. They are positioning for something built to last.

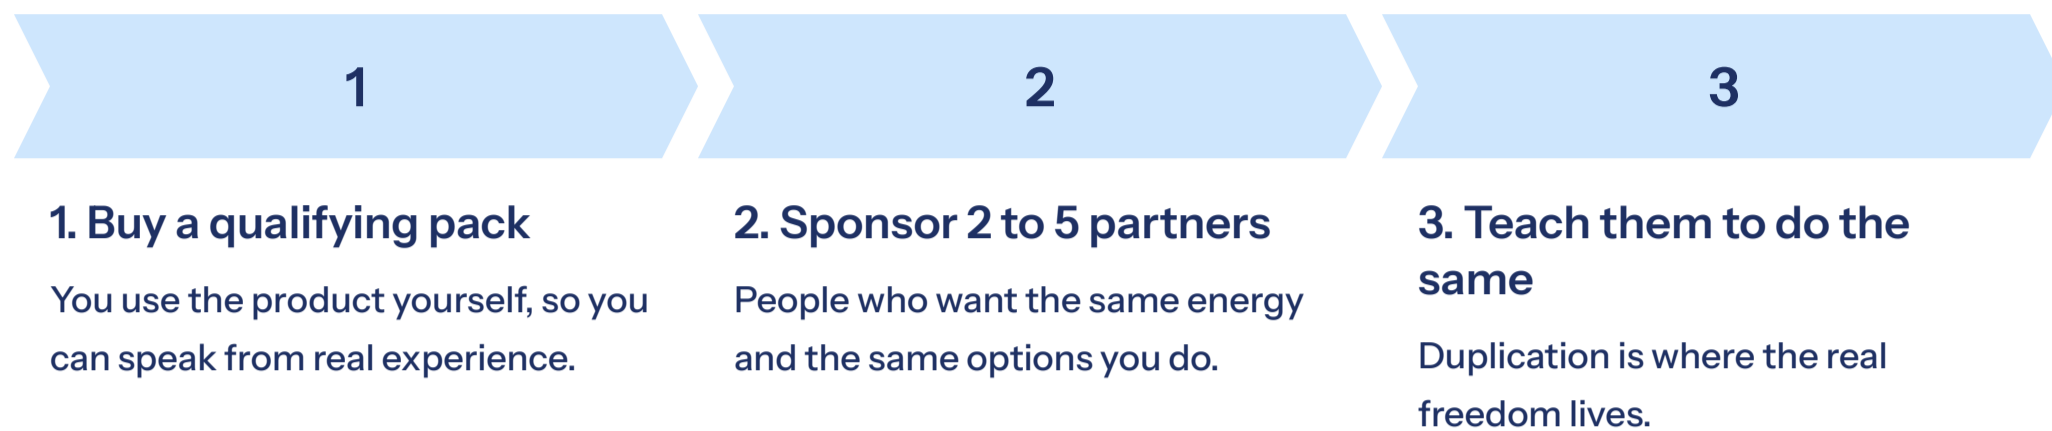

The Income Opportunity: The Freedom Run

CHAPTER THREE

Let's get specific about the money, because vague promises are exactly what you are tired of.

The launch is called the Freedom Run Blitz. The system is simple enough to explain in one breath, and it rewards you every single month you show up.

Here is the entire engine, three steps:

That's it. No reinventing the wheel. Now watch what that simple, repeatable shape pays out each month:

$150

2x2 bonus
every month

$450

3x3 bonus
every month

$750

4x4 bonus
every month

$1,050

5x5 bonus
every month

Read that last line again slowly. A 5x5 is just five partners who each help five more — the exact thing you already do naturally when you love a product. That structure pays up to $1,050 every single month you qualify. Not once. Monthly. That is the difference between a quick spike and a recurring asset.

It doesn't stop at the monthly bonus

Stack the rest of the offer on top:

Lifestyle Bonus

earn up to $1,050 per month, paid every month you qualify.

Car giveaways every 6 months every order earns you entry points. More orders, more entries, more chances at a fully custom dream vehicle.

The $10K Guarantee

follow the system, put in the work, and it is results or refund. The risk is moved off your shoulders and onto the company's.

The Freedom Community

powered by BMORE. Support, motivation, and a track to follow so you are never building alone.

Stop and think about what that guarantee really means. A company only offers "results or refund" on the income side when it has total confidence in its product, its manufacturing, and its system. They are willing to be wrong so you don't have to be.

So here is the honest math.

Most "opportunities" ask you to risk your money, your time, and your reputation, and they guarantee you nothing. This one asks you to follow a simple three-step system, gives you a patented product people already want, pays you monthly bonuses that climb as you grow, drops in car giveaways twice a year, and then backs the whole thing with a $10,000 guarantee.

One side of that scale is all risk and no promise. The other side is a real system, a real product, real momentum, and a written guarantee. When you see it laid out like that, the only real question left is timing.

Why This Is Built for Marketers and Influencers

CHAPTER FOUR

If you already know how to get attention online, this next part is for you. You are sitting on the single most valuable skill in this entire model, and most people in your shoes have never had a product worth pointing it at.

Think about what you already do. You build an audience. You earn trust. You make recommendations people act on. The only thing missing has been an offer that is actually good enough to put your name behind — one that won't embarrass you in 90 days when it disappears.

Here is why internet marketers, affiliate marketers, and influencers have an unfair advantage in this launch:

A real product behind the promo

You are not pushing vapor. You are sharing a patented, manufactured product with 130,000+ testimonials and a results-or-refund guarantee. Your credibility stays intact.

Recurring income, not one-time clicks

Most affiliate offers pay you once and forget you. This pays monthly bonuses that grow with your organization. Your audience keeps reordering a product they love, and you keep getting paid.

Built-in tools and content

The system gives you the education, the assets, and a community to plug your people into. You bring the traffic; the system does the heavy lifting on the back end.

Ground-floor timing

You can position your audience before the masses arrive instead of promoting something that is already saturated. Early movers in a launch built to last keep an edge for years.

A story worth telling

Energy, fat metabolism, freedom, car giveaways, a $10K guarantee — this is content that practically writes itself for reels, emails, and lives.

Picture it plainly: you make one piece of content about getting your energy back, point it at a product people genuinely reorder, and that single effort keeps paying you month after month while the company handles manufacturing, fulfillment, and the guarantee. That is leverage. That is the whole game.

If you have an audience, even a small and loyal one, you are not starting from zero in this launch. You are starting from the front of the line.

The Compound Effect of Energy and Income

CHAPTER FIVE

Now back to the question from Chapter One. Remember it? What would you do with steady energy from morning to night?

Here is the answer most people never connect: that extra energy is the fuel for everything else in this guide.

When your body is supported by the patented Norwegian salmon peptide, your energy stops swinging. The 2 p.m. brain fog that kills your productivity fades. You suddenly have the clarity and stamina to work on your side project after your day job — without stealing time from your family or your health.

And it works the other way too. When your income is built on a stable, predictable system instead of a chaotic hype cycle, your stress drops. High stress and elevated cortisol are major drivers of metabolic problems and muscle loss. By trading financial anxiety for a clear, step-by-step path to more options, you are literally supporting your health from the outside in.

Think of it as a double engine:

Engine 1 (ORYGN)

stabilizes your cellular biology, giving you the physical energy to execute.

Engine 2 (IGNYT, powered by BMORE) stabilizes your business structure, turning that energy into recurring income and long-term options.

This is not about working harder. It is about working with leverage — using a patented, studied product and an owned manufacturing facility to build something that actually lasts. The energy makes the income possible. The income lowers the stress. The lower stress protects the energy. Round and round, in your favor for once.

What Most People Miss

Most people chasing better health or extra income miss the one factor that decides everything: control.

They buy supplements from brands that hand their formula to the lowest-bidding factory. They join "opportunities" that run on third-party logistics nobody actually controls. When something breaks — and it always does — the customer and the builder are the ones left holding the bag.

ORYGN and IGNYT were built the opposite way. The company invested in its own manufacturing. It secured the rights to a patented Norwegian salmon peptide you cannot get anywhere else. That means it controls the raw materials, the processing, the formula, and the distribution.

That level of control is exactly why they can stand behind an industry-leading guarantee on both the product and the income system. They are not hiding behind fine print. They know what is in the product, and they know the system works.

Whether you are here to reclaim your daily energy, support your metabolic health, build a recurring income stream, or all three — you are partnering with a company that has pulled the risk out of the equation and put it on its own books.

The Countdown Has Begun

YOUR NEXT STEP

You have read the science. You understand the system. You have seen the math and the guarantee. Now timing takes over.

A new product is launching, and the doors are open right now to lock in your spot — free. That window is exactly when early positioning pays the most. Position yourself before the masses arrive, not after.

You don't have to decide anything today. Here is what happens next.

Because you received this guide, a designated representative will personally reach out to you. This is not a high-pressure pitch. It is a quiet, structured conversation built around three simple questions: where your energy is now, how much time you actually have, and what you want more of — health, income, or both.

On that call you will get two things, free:

The complete Metabolic Health & Business System Guide

the deeper breakdown of the patented peptide science and the exact steps of the Freedom Run system.

A no-pressure strategy call where your rep helps you see if this is the right fit for your goals, and how to lock in your free spot before launch.

So watch for that call. When your designated representative reaches out, take fifteen minutes. Ask every question you have. Then decide from a place of clarity, not pressure. That is the only way a real decision should ever be made.

WHEN TIMING MEETS A PROVEN FOUNDATION, LIVES CHANGE.

You have spent enough years on the sidelines watching other people win. The energy can be steady. The income can be real. The system can be built to last. The only thing standing between you and that life is a single conversation — and it is coming to you.

LOCK IN YOUR SPOT — FREE. ASK YOUR REP FOR THE SHORT RECORDED MESSAGE AND GET THE FULL DETAILS.

P.S. Two things in this launch cannot be bought back later — your position and your timing. The 340+ who joined in the first five days understood that. When your designated rep calls, that is your moment to claim the same edge. Don't let it ring out. The countdown has already begun.
